INTRODUCTION

IT GIVES us great pleasure to present to our patrons and the public the thirty-seventh edition of The Blue Book for the season of 1927.

This issue contains the NAMES and ADDRESSES of the socially elect in Thirty cities in California, together with the Officers and Members of Forty of the leading Men's and Women's Clubs, and other features of great interest.

We have taken unusual care in compiling the various lists of names of the club members as well as the families. Owing to the numerous changes which take place daily, it is impossible to publish a book with all the information in the present edition, without some errors, but it has been our aim to give as accurate and dependable information as possible. We have spared no expense in our endeavor.

The Blue Book circulates not only to subscribers' homes, and leading business houses and professional men, but also in many of the Libraries, Clubs and Hotels in California and other cities in the United States and Europe.

Any suggestions will be highly appreciated by

STEEL FRAME BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

By Joseph M. McCoy, Engineer, J. G. Williams Const. Co.

AN internationally famous engineer being complimented upon the successful completion of the then world's greatest hydro-electric enterprise which this seasoned man had conceived, planned, and directed throughout its construction, replied that in his opinion, among the five thousand men who had labored on the project from inception to completion a very great many deserved more real credit than he. A land surveyor in one of California's mountain counties referred to the many-hued newly lithographed geological survey map of North America, lately published and just hung on his rustic walls, as "the history of North America for a hundred million years, the writing of which had required four centuries and taken the best years from the lives of a million men."

Asked to contribute an article on steel frame building construction, the voices of the two old friends just quoted bid the writer to place credit where it belongs. If praise is held due because of the grace, strength and durability of the finished building, then it should be divided between those who conceived and designed and those who executed. The fascinating history of the advance of engineering science, of which the design of great buildings is a part, has already been written by professional scribes. Certain technical features of steel frame construction as applied to modern city buildings have no doubt been discussed in articles appearing in this volume in a manner far beyond the capacity of this writer. He is inclined, therefore, to say a word of the Steel-worker himself, of the individual who shinnys up the columns, connects the beams, and is generally responsible for the mushroom-like growth of a steel frame under construction.

"Iron-workers" they call themselves, and an outstanding good humor is one of their greatest charms. One said loquaciously that "he had just as good an education as anyone else, the only difference being that he had'nt quite as much of it." An occasional cartoon would indicate that the popular conception of the steel-erector involves such ideas as the sickening sight of two overall clad figures lunching nonchalantly astride an overhanging beam some five hundred feet above a busy city street, or that of a "load" with its human freight left indefinitely suspended midway between street and building top because the five o'clock whistle happened to blow during the progress of its upward course. But the Ironworker is really little given to doing "stunts." A local newspaper photographer getting copy for his rotogravure section was forced to pose a picture of a crap game between two "connectors" who had been lured into what looked like a highly hazardous position out on the cornice of the city's latest and highest skyscraper, and the accompanying reporter had to furnish the "bones." The principals in this little comedy pleasantly tolerated being taken away from the lunch which their fellow workers were enjoying on a carefully planked-over floor below.

The vernacular of these lads is interesting. When out of a job, they are always "on the street." When forced to migrate from city to city in search of work, they become "floaters"; a new-comer in any particular locality is a "Johnny-come-lately"; an apprentice is a "punk", while a worker of questionable skill or ability is a "Joe McGee."

And they are not unsentimental, these rugged men. Upon the completion of a steel frame the national emblem is always flown from its topmost member and the flag never comes down until the elements have whipped it to shreds. Bottles of champagne are not known to have been used as in the christening of newly built ships, but in those other days when "a man could raise a thirst", and quench it, some very vigorous toasts were drunk to and the empty bottles afterward broken on the highest column standing by. During the World War these men did their share, and by no means all found their way into the shipyards. The writer doubts if any other single trade or craft furnished as many men as did the Ironworkers to that first volunteer regiment of "Engineers" out of San Francisco in May, 1917.

If they seem to be hardened, it is only a physical hardening of body and features because of the "cussedness" of the cruel cold material in which they are continually working with their hands. Knowledge of a fellow workman out of funds because of injury, sickness or unemployment is certain to be the signal for starting a generous subscription list. So let us be generous with these men of "intestinal fortitude" who truly "build" our skyscrapers, and admit that we could not do it without them.

Some Structural Features of the New Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Building

FROM an engineering and probably from a popular point of view, the design of the foundation of the new office building of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is most interesting. Early maps of San Francisco show the line of mean low water at approximately Beale, Davis and Market Street intersection, and a depth over the location of the building of from one to six feet at low water. The area was subsequently filled with sand and clay to the present elevation of about thirteen feet above mean low water. The basement floor is, therefore, about the elevation of the original mud flat of the '50's.

Numerous borings were made at the site, indicating that the underlying hardpan was about 100 feet below the present curb level, the intervening strata consisting of the top fill, mud, and, in some portions of the lot, hard clay lenses of approximately five feet in thickness at a considerable depth below the surface. It was decided that for a building of such a character as this, the supporting piles must go to the underlying hardpan. This required not only long piles, but some sort of means for getting them through the lenses of hard clay above referred to. Ordinary pile-driving equipment would not accomplish this task. The piles were finally driven by a 7500 pound steam hammer, assisted, where hard strata was encountered, by a high pressure jet of water, and brought to place at about 105 feet below the street. The piles were of Oregon pine, especially selected, and were about 85 feet long, the cut-off, or top, being generally about 20 feet below street level.

The permanent ground water level being some eight feet below street level, it was several feet above the basement floor. Waterproofing was, therefore, necessary and was accomplished by a membrane of roofing felt, heavily impregnated with an asphaltic compound, extending across the basement floor and up the sides all around and made absolutely water-tight. Upon this a heavy concrete layer was placed to resist the upward pressure of the water. This is a mere outline of the method used. Elevator pits, boiler room, basement garage, and cantilever footings introduced many complications into the waterproofing problem, all of which were successfully overcome. These difficulties, however, necessitated a considerable use of structural steel in the foundations, some 550 tons being below the basement floor, in addition to the concrete reinforcing. One rather interesting feature was the size of some of the cast iron column bases, two of which were seven feet square and three and one-half feet high, weighing eight tons each.

The skeleton of the building is of the full steel frame type, with intermediate steel beams—the finest type of steel structure. It is of the conventional design for structures of this character, with no especially novel features.

Wind bracing was, of course, provided in accordance with the best practice. Few, except those actually engaged in the design of structures, have any idea of the enormous pressures exerted by a stiff breeze. At the pressure specified in the San Francisco Building Ordinance, roughly corresponding to the maximum wind velocity observed here during the last sixty years, the pressure on the Market Street front amounts to 350 tons, and this pressure must be carried to the ground through the steel frame and its wind bracing.

Floor slabs were of reinforced concrete throughout, and the concrete carried around all steel work as a protection against fire and corrosion. The concrete slabs project into the walls at each floor to form a support for the brick and terra cotta exterior, so that all masonry is firmly bonded to the skeleton steel frame, making the building monolithic in character.

Some figures may be of interest:

Area of lot	19,000	sq. ft.
Gross floor area in building	200,000	sq. ft.
Cubic contents	2,700,000	cu. ft.
Total height, sidewalk to roof	260	feet
Number of piles	1,500
Structural steel	3,200	tons
Approximate weight of building	42,000	tons

The Pacific-Union Club is a consolidation of the Pacific and Union Clubs —two social organizations that existed in San Francisco, the Pacific since the year 1852 and the Union since 1854. These two clubs were consolidated in February, 1889, under the name of The Pacific-Union Club. It is one of the noted and exclusive clubs of San Francisco, elegant in its appointments, luxurious in its accommodations; and is provided with an excellent library, as well as all current literature of unexceptional features.

"FOREVER AND FOREVER"

A memorial of RAYMOND GRANITE is a tribute for today—tomorrow—and a thousand tomorrows!

Enduring, distinctive, rich—mellowing with time, it stands as a tribute "in perpetuity" — whether it be a simple shaft or the most stately mausoleum.

RAYMOND GRANITE—quarried in California—is the recognized granite for memorials in the West.

The mausoleum pictured above was built of Raymond Granite for Senator George Hearst and Mrs. Phoebe Hearst in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

If you will write or call at our offices we shall be glad to supply you with details of costs and suggestions as to design. Booklet "BD" sent on request.

"The Family"

Club House: S. W. Cor. Powell and Bush Sts., San Francisco. Tel. Sutter 800.

"The Family" was organized in the early part of 1902 and opened its first home at the southeast corner of Montgomery and Commercial streets on April 5th of that year. It's purpose may be taken from the inaugural address of its first President, who said:

"We hope to make this club a reservoir of music, mirth, helpfulness and geniality that will transform the gloomy deserts of some men's lives into blooming meadows of friendship and fruitful orchards of affection."

On February 21st, 1903 "The Family" moved into new quarters on the north side of Post street between Stockton street and Grant avenue. There it had its physical properties destroyed in the conflagration of April 18, 1906. It reestablished itself at the northeast corner of Franklin and Clay streets, and on October 30th, 1909, moved to its present home at the southwest corner of Bush and Powell streets. In addition to this fireside it owns "The Family Farm" of something over 160 acres in the Woodside-Portola country in San Mateo County.

Poudre Creme—used with condensed cream, itself a wonderful beautifier. You will be delighted with its stimulating and soothing effect. By constant use it will eradicate all blemishes, giving the skin an adorable, refreshing youthfulness.

AT NIGHT AFTER USING

Theodora Velvet Creme—to cleanse the skin, apply

Theodora Wonder Cream
(An IDEAL powder BASE)
—These creams will clear the complexion, firming sagging muscles, filling out scrawny hollows, lifting double chin, building graceful neck, removing tired lines and wrinkles, closing enlarged pores, correcting excessive oiliness, whitening the skin.

Peach Bloom Powder—Will assist you in imparting that rosy peach-like APPEARANCE to the skin, which is the SECRET OF A WOMAN'S CHARM.

Theodora Liquidine—Is an instantaneous beautifier.

A School of Music Education honored throughout the United States for its efficiency of method and scholastic ideal.

The advanced deparment is under the leading musicians on the Coast—Piano, Violin, 'Cello, Flute, Clarinet. Graded preparatory work, beginning with little children at five years of age is under Miss Jenkins' personal supervision and is the result of over twenty years experimentation with the child mind.

One of the most interesting collections of original compositions is in Miss Jenkins' possession, amazing expression in miniature of the child's musical imagination.

It is a delightful school to visit, the location on Randwick Avenue and Richmond Boulevard, a block away from the car lines being quite ideal.

Every dainty frill as you would have it

Let the San Francisco Laundry be your "neat laundress." The very fact that we serve over 7000 families should be sufficient proof that we do excellent work.

Everything is washed in rainsoft water—spotlessly clean by skilled white labor—you'll find every dainty frill just as you want it. Why not have leisure on Monday morning! Send your bundle to the San Francisco Laundry.

And while your clothes are at our modern, sanitary laundry they are fully insured—this new arrangement for insurance is but one of the many advantages of this laundry which started in your grandmother's time, back in 1868.

HOTEL LEIGHTON LOS ANGELES

To be practically in the heart of the city, yet with surroundings as alluring as those of a suburban hotel, is the striking feature of Hotel Leighton. It is located upon high ground fronting south in the Westlake residence section, directly opposite Westlake Park, with its beautiful lake and garden.

Here is delightful relief from the noise and confusion of the business section, yet ten minutes' ride on either of four direct car lines takes one into the shopping center and among the amusement places.

Hotel Leighton is an American and European plan family and tourist hotel of the highest class.

Each room has direct outside exposure, hot and cold water, telephone and steam heat. Billiard room, barber shop, circulating library and elevator service in the building.

Large grounds with shade trees, swing seats, children's playground, clock golf, and two fine tennis courts.

Automobile entrance at main floor level. Parking space on the hotel grounds. Leighton Garage, day and night service, immediately across the street.

A. R. JAQUITH, Vice-President and General Manager, 2127 West Sixth Street

THE RAYMOND.
PASADENA CAL.

The Raymond is the winter home of persons who want the best---its location is the best in the world and the hotel in all respects is perfect. Raymond Park, in which it is located, comprises seventy-five acres, and has within its borders a nine-hole Golf Course, that cannot be surpassed for attractiveness of scenery, or for all the fine points that appeal to lovers of the game. The course is green throughout the winter months, and there is nothing more exhilarating than a game on its grassy slopes.

The Raymond is open from December to May. Residents of San Francisco will find The Raymond a delightful place for a winter outing. The Raymond has its own garage.

An illustrated book of the hotel and its grounds can be had on application to
